

Text 1

Reading comprehension:

1. F: "...differences in human behaviour are not due to innate differences among individuals, but rather the result of cultural influence on individual development"
2. T: "The student expected Mead to talk about fishhooks or clay pots or grinding stones"
3. T: "No animal survives a broken leg long enough for the bone to heal."
4. F: "A broken femur that has healed is evidence that someone has taken time to stay with the one who fell and has bound up the wound"

Lexicon:

1. Natural, inherent → Innate
2. Cured → Healed
3. Injury → Wound
4. Help → Serve

Phonetics:

1. Behaviour (Line 2), Innate (line 2), Civilization (Line 7)
2. /d/
3. Meat (Line 12), Beast (Line 12)
4. /dʒ/

Text 2

Reading comprehension:

1. T: "The interior team climbed the building's stairs to meet the exterior team, which used an extendable platform."
2. F: "This fear leads to some buildings worldwide omitting the 13th floor."
3. T: "y. In Chinese, the number 4 is pronounced as /sì/, which sounds quite similar to /sǐ/, the sound of the word "death." "
4. F: "Vancouver is one of the Western cities with a sizable Oriental community."

Lexicon:

1. Arrived at, got to → Reached
2. In fact, really → Actually
3. Absence → Lack
4. Remarkable → Sizable

Phonetics:

1. /ɪə/
2. /z/
3. / ð /
4. Conducted (Line 1), Some (Line 8).

Use of English

1. It is a long time since I tested my eyes
2. She wanted to know where the annual meeting of the World Bank took place.
3. That is the blond kid who climbed the tree to fetch the ball.
4. If John had revised his homework he wouldn't have made so many mistakes.
5. Although she gave up her Japanese lessons, she was still capable of holding a conversation.
6. If only I had apologize to her.
7. Parking isn't allowed in the hospital premises.
8. This Winter is thought to be warmer than ever (the warmest).
9. You don't have to wear a uniform.
10. That was the toughest math test pupils have ever taken.
11. I regretted telling him the truth.
12. Where does Rose's Babysitter always pick her children up?